Elliott keynotes at 'Who Will You Be?'

Dr. Nancy Elliott, founder of the Montclair Breast Center, recently addressed more than 160 young women during a career workshop sponsored by Montclair Public Schools.

The workshop, "Who Will You Be in the 21st Century?" is part of the school district's Women's History Month program. Organized by Sylvia Bryant, the workshop included presentations by nine career women.

The speakers encouraged the fifth- through 10th-graders to live each day focusing on their journey instead of concentrating on a specific destination. They shared the twists, turns, setbacks and successes in their personal life journeys.

"I went to school for so long that people joked about my career as a student," said Elliott. "I know that many kids complain about school. To me, school is great, school is fun, and school is work."
